I tried to DRS my GME shares out of Fidelity. It was going pretty good, but then I told the representative I have a Youth account and asked if there was a different process for my type of account, at which point the rep said to hold so she could inquire for me. She then returned and informed me I could not DRS and I would have to wait until I turn 18.

My question is has anyone else under 18 DRS'd their Youth account shares, and has anyone over 18 helped their kid DRS with no problem?

Did the Fidelity rep BS me or do I really have to wait til I turn 18?

I would normally be trustful of the rep, but I read a lot of posts about other people dealing with obstacles while trying to DRS and now I'm paranoid.
