This post is nothing more than a smooths take on the Silence from GameStop, and opinion on Papa Cohens plan.

BUT, I think I figured it out.

Ok, so the price movement is not organic, right? - We know prices are manipulated, and so does Ryan Cohen.

GameStop is going to see high volatility in the next few weeks, REGARDLESS OF ANY ANNOUNCEMENT FROM GAMESTOP.

GME is trading on algorithms, and we're about to see the largest green dildos ever pulled out of Kenny's ass.

BUT WAIT,

GameStop has remained silent! ■

Well what articles are they going to write this time? They going make another announcement on behalf of GameStop? What will they come up with?

This price action will raise a lot questions, in which the Media will have no answer for. This will ignite the curiosity of many more people as they dive into the mystery of what's happening with our favorite stonk.

Ryan Cohen has captured the attention of the greatest investards of this generation, now it's time to gather the attention of the masses. With their curiosity spiked and ears tuned to Ryan Cohen next announcement...

Only then will Ryan Cohen pull out his eew eew llams

And begin to indulge us on his newest project, and carve his name into the history books.

When citadel self implodes, Ryan Cohen can come out and say, "funny your markets are obsolete, I got that new new, called L00pR1ng. We Partna's and they will help run our Nifty new NFT marketplace. Come buy shit to put in your metaverse home or indulge in some play to earn. Come create,collect, trade and play and don't worry bout dem gaz fees no more."

I hope y'all catch my drift here, I'm a bit sleep deprived so hope I made sense I'll check back later.
