Mayo Force 1 is still park at Midway International Airport in downtown Chicago as of Saturday 1/29/22 - 1:26 PM EST. Mayo Force 2 flew back to Florida not sure of the time frame because I was not monitoring it live but it was sometime between yesterday's close and today. But there is a little twist because instead of flying to Palm Beach International Airport In West Palm Beach it instead landed farther south at Miami Beach International Airport in Miami. I don't know but it has been cold in Florida as temperatures have gotten below freezing at night so maybe Miami was a little more appealing because it is about 70 miles farther south and I would imagine warmer. As of Saturday 1/29/22 - 1:30 PM EST it is still parked at Miami International Airport.

Hope you all are staying warm if you live along the eastern seaboard of the USA as I do because we are in the middle of a major snow storm with blizzard conditions. I live in northwest Connecticut and we have a few more hours to go before were in the clear. We're kinda lucky because farther east and along the coast is taking the brunt of it. My wife thought it would be a great day to make a big pot of chili and just stay warm. I can't wait to enjoy.

Not much more happening but check back later for I will update if any new information becomes available. GME to the moon 🍷 ! Take Care Folks !
