Several investors were affected by the financial catastrophes that have occurred in recent months. As you know, it was something that we could not predict and now we just have to wait, be patient and avoid selling in the red.

However, the GME thing is totally different. There is mathematical evidence here that allows us to predict what will happen, so M0ASS is very likely to happen. The question is when will it happen? And why hasn't it happened? Let's start with the second. It has not happened because the system is fraudulent and the law is still not enforced with the criminals who run the notorious abusive corporations. In addition to that, we must consider that at this point the HF are trying whatever they can to control the information in the media and leverage the maximum losses in case they cannot avoid the M0ASS with the disinformation strategy. And if they can't avoid it, they will buy time to see how they flee to tax havens. Perhaps we are at that stage, in which the HF are buying time. And first, when will it happen? No one person can answer this precisely, since the scenario is multifactorial, but what we can say is that the road is turning against the millionaires and in favor of the army of apes, and to achieve M0ASS it is necessary to invest in this process money that we don't need and can leave in the long term, because the more we hold, and the more shares are certified, the more the rope closes around the HF's neck.

Calm, patience and tranquility, that the reward will come sooner or later.

Greetings fellow apes and have a nice day all ;)
