DRSing GME seems to have reached a bit of a plateau lately, suggesting most early adopters, even outside USA properly got their accounts and started DRSing by now.

So the next phase should be to get the early majority rolling. How do we reach/educate/calm people enough to get to that next wave of registrations?

To get some ideas, I think it would be helpful if people that DRSed lately to give their input as to why, or if there are some people who have not yet DRSed, but are able to, to give their input to what stops them.
