So, theoretically speaking, what would I need to start an institution that could successfully Margin Call HFS?

AFAIK, we would need to start a Bank or something like Computer Share, en start buying GME shares through it.. borrow them out,, then ask them back.. right?

Considering the amount of our (DRS'd) shares, should be pretty straightforward to completely annihilate them, if retail investors transferred 50% of their shares to this newly created institution to start the play — right?

Let's discuss.
