"After all this drama, I'm soooo zen"

"No more idolizing individuals and putting them on a pedestal"

"Dont let forum sliding happen"

Read that a thousand times and goddamn here we thought the subs have finally reached an overall zen mode: tons of drs (really excited about whatll happen when the float is locked), memes, and DDs - the subs were "in balance"

Then comes pulte (cheers to you, nothing personal), apparently someone with influence (never heard of him, like prolly all europoors), a large following and a common enemy. Sweet, finally some heavyweight who can assure apes that they arent conspiracy tinfoil nutjobs.

And wait, he is also open to learn, shares openly with his following about gme and even buys into it?! To the fuckin moon■

Now there's immense interaction between lots of apes and pulte, and that's great! Also something different among the sea of purple rings, no harm in that.

Take a step back and think of what happens when apes started blindly idolizing people and putting their every word and action on a pedestal.
Runic. Fucking. Glory.

It could happen again, or maybe not. But we all agree that we are in the endgame (again, or always have been) and this sub is susceptible to fuckery.

Funny, how some are boasting about being zen and only trusting ryan cohen and deepfuckingvalue, only to kiss the ass of the next influencer to show gme some attention, fuckin pathetic. Pulte himself even told you to be aware of him, besides, do you really need to be that desperate??

Anyways, let me tell you about a company thats being heavily undervalued...

...their stock was shorted by retarded hedgefunds led by a mayo-addicted, degenerate wife-beater while it's stock was priced in the single digits, with unlimited risk potential for them AND unheard of tendies potential for YOU...

...Is being turnaround by a successful entrepreneur with solid values and memes...

...has attracted top tier talents from powerhouses like amazon, google, microsoft...

... are on their way to become a major player in web3 with cooperations with LOOPRING (major if not THE crypto solution for mass adoption) and IMX (major nft gaming platform)...

...increased sales MASSIVELY in the past year, despite having just closed tons of offline stores and while ramping up their online sales channels...

...will most probably have a stock split as share dividend (with the possibility of it all playing out in the crypto space) after the vote in summer, mentioned often as a possible catalyst for massive upside growth of same stock....

...with a retarded following numbering over a million, buying the stock at every price and registering their shares: probably more than 25% of the float is already locked, with no signs of slowing down...

Positions: 100 plus some, diversified over several brokers but already in the process of being fully DRS

Last but not least, remember the following:

No cell, no sell

Or my favorite

Fuck you, pay me

Peace out
