As the title suggest, I will be buying the dip on Tuesday morning. We have some leftover money in the family account (mostly contributed by myself) and I managed to convince wife to invest some in GME, especially now we have the lowest dip since Feb 2012.

On a side note, does anyone knows if GameStop will be releasing their holiday sales figures soon? Last year, this was released on Jan 11.

I think 2021 holiday sales will be strong with all the console drops and queues outside GameStop. Will GameStop release their figures next week?

Cheers everyone and have a wonderful weekend!
