Yes, everyone should DRS. But please also ask the broker you are DRS'ing away from how they handled the stock-split.

1. Ask them if they received dividend shares from their clearing house
2. Ask them if they performed a normal stock-split or a stock-split via dividend.
3. Ask them for an official statement on the stock-split

If the answer is anything other than a "yes, we've received dividend shares and performed the stock split via dividend: File a COMPLAINT with your countries "SEC".

Post everything you have, and send it to Gamestop investor relations.

We need legal teams to start looking at this and we need official statements.
