

Title: A funny coincidence

Author: AcmasterM

Created 2022-01-06 11:37:06 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/rxck3s/a_funny_coincidence/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/rxck3s/a\_funny\_coincidence/

Yesterday I was wondering how hedgfucks could be dumb enough to suppress so blatantly GME DD or anything relevant to it every time. Then it occurred to me : What could be the best way to lure not so retarded apes into a "one more day" trap ?

Give them what they want to hear, put some confirmation bias of solution you planted months ago, let it rise and suppress it as obviously as you can. What happens next ?

Best case scenario, a lot of apes buy options without knowing of it works, you sell it to them and get some cash to drive the price of the stock way under the call target price. If they buy calls for next year you get a chance to think a bit more on how to prevent them from exercising.

Worst case scenario, you lured them into two sides, pro and anti options and as everyone tries to find the best argument to defend his own belief, you hope that everyone forget that Gamestop was one of if not the first company to talk about their DRS count.

But let me tell you something, Mayoman, it will not work !

Apes will rebuild above the ashes that your greed leaves after you.

And fellow apes, I hope you will only do what you know or are willing to learn, I believe in every one to make what feels right to them.