When will the Sequoia deal we're all seeing posted in the sub (and reposted, and reposted, and...) go through? Has it already gone through, and now Sequoia has been roped in to heavy naked shorts as well?

Is it possible that Ken Mayo has threatened to allow moass if these hedgehogs don't help him break the law to defeat the Apes? And if so, how many do we have to defeat before we reach the Final Boss and MOASS?

Either way, diamond hands are clearly winning the day. The recent media onslaught was proof (why attack a stock this hard and try to steer money away from it?), but Bedpost Bernie having to go to other hedgefunds, hat in hand, is the ultimate proof. It's been a year of attacks on GME from every direction, and he is failing and flailing.

Buy and hold was always The Way.
