The new year 2022 is only a few days old and thus has been quite interesting so far. This first week alone was once again fuckery over fuckery, so I decided to post a recap of what happened to GME the last week from now on every Sunday like my little diary. If I miss something important, feel free to let me know. So let's get right into it!

Dear Diary,

Today is Sunday the 01/09/2022 and this is the first time I write into my weekly diary.

There is no better way to start the new year than by hitting some ATHs. So it was a pleasure to hear from u/pctracer that the path to 2 trilly Reverse Repo will be completed soon. Nobody knew we will finally see some action in our favourite stock this week, but one person must have smelled something...

u\\JMKPOhio posted this one a week ago, and his timing could not have been better!

Next, I read something about lots of money and big banks, but I wondered, why outside of Reddit nobody seemed to be interested in it. This story to be precise is not from last week, but because it has not received enough attention outside our Subs and later got swallowed by GME-"News" which is about to come at the end of this post, I decided to add that one as well.

The Federal Reserve released the names of the banks that had received $4.5 trillion in cumulative loans in the last quarter of 2019 under its emergency repo loan operations for a liquidity crisis that has yet to be credibly explained.

thank you very much for this one u\\sebet_123

On Tuesday our beloved Chairman spoke to us, and of course, our Tinfoil hats started digging immediately. Is the quest already solved? The next days it started to get louder again...

First, we had this Video of a Wall Street - Veteran talking about a lot of shilly-vanilly stuff. Nobody had an answer to why it was getting so much attention now, because the video has been uploaded some time ago. The next day it was everywhere on Reddit.

If you did not see it, here it is.

Next to the guy talking about big-money-fuckery, there were two other suits and you can tell by their looks, they didn't want to be there.

Wednesday wasn't that interesting at all, but what happened on Thursday felt like a wonderful Deja-Vu. The whole day we traded up and down and sideways, but what we saw in AH, is summed up perfectly in this reaction by u/JustAnuthaLooser*.*

Huh?

After that, shit was going to get wild! First WSJ "announced" something nobody else including GameStop announced before, then other news platforms jumped on that train and GME was everywhere in MSM.

I made a post after this "\\News\\" came out because a 30% jump on such rumours seemed a bit odd to me. When in fact, u/Vdemoncase points it out, "\\Gamestop didn't say shit.\\\" https://www.reddit.com/r/VGME/comments/vrxqynn/vnftmarketplace/_is/_bullshit/?utm_source=share&utm;_medium=web2x&context;=3

We closed that day pretty strong in the green. Because of that the OG Memestock-Sub came back talking about GME a lot and brought a hand full of epic Hypevideos as well as some good memes with it.

This one came from u/GareBear415

On Friday we knew there were only two ways on how to end the week. But you guessed it, nothing happened. We moved fell hard and got flooded by misinformation and scripted Interviews all day long. My favourite one was the guy that tried so hard to don't read while talking but had no clue what he is allowed to say.

Thanks to u/Borkery we have a beautiful capture of that moment.

After all the noise calmed down, Rod Alzmann gave an Interview to Bloomberg. He described why he is seeing Gamestop as an investment opportunity and how its transformation into new markets are going so far.

You can find this one in the other Sub where it was uploaded by u/QuestionAll-

At the moment there is a lot of option-talk going on. I wanted to mention that in the end, but because I have no clue how they work, I don't know what to say.

If I forgot something you think should be in last weeks diary, let me know and I'll edit it.
