I have long wondered when the overall shift would happen where we would see the media start being realistic about the upcoming economic shit show that GME is gonna bring with it. We may finally be there. Looking over several aggregate financial websites this week it seems no one is publishing bullish pieces. Ol Jamie Dimon likened the coming storm to a hurricane. We may be so much closer than we think. Can't wait for that update DRS number later. Can't stop. Won't stop.
