Very simple question. I've been seeing you apes go INSANE with the drs and cs buy posts and man is it awesome to witness! Everyday I check the ticker and try and track all the buys coming in and how they effect the price but I'll be honest I'm as smooth as they come. So since drs started we have actually seen the price slow bleed during that time and even on green days its a sideways trading day truthfully. Now, I'm not expert but to me makes no sense at all and to me the price should be steadily rising over time. Am I missing something? Are these orders not coming through yet? Are they just getting dark pooled? Anyone with a wrinkle please help!
