Hear me out... I have been giving this so much thought over the last year and I'm sure you guys have as well. I am definitely leaning more towards the dividend or whatever GameStop(Ryan)/Loopring is developing for future payment. We already know our fiat has basically failed and we don't have enough gold to back it and Make it worth anything. I don't trust what the government will do during MOASS and I don't trust our dollar as a loaf of bread will be $100 with hyperinflation. We know that GME will cost historic money but there are so many shorted stocks/indexes etc. I am just saying that at least for me the dollar is no longer my comfort at the end of this journey.. enjoy weekend infinite hype loop continues
