

Title: Ideas to encourage smaller scale investors (that own less than 100 shares) to DRS their shares because they make up the majority of r/superstonk?

Was wondering if anyone else had some helpful ideas to encourage smaller investors like myself to DRS their GME shares, such as a raffle, sweepstakes etc. ? Just spitballing, but I feel like the # of shares DRS'd right now isn't enough, primarily because us small investors that don't have enough capital to really impact our situation individually don't feel motivated to DRS, just like how many voters in national elections feel like their individual votes don't mean much by themselves. En masse, superstonkers own <100 shares could have a massive impact on our beautiful stock if we gave them a reason beyond contributing to the bot numbers.

Comment with some suggestions!
