A GME stock divi is announced and they pummel the shit out of the stock using puts.... So in essence they just made the thing THEY need to go out and buy back within the next few months to give back to us to make us whole a lot cheaper so we'll just be buying more at the same time.

The only explainer I have is that yesterday was 1) a shock and awe campaign, a real show of muscle... 2) a kick the can down the road event.

The thing is if we continue to not sell all they're doing is pissing into the wind and we're watching from the window laughing ■
