Let's say I currently have 100 shares of GME. 50 of them were purchased January 2021 and 50 of them were purchased last week. If the stock splits 7:1 and is awarded as a dividend, would I then have 350 shares that could be sold at the 15% long term capital gains tax rate? Or would 650 of them still be considered short-term holdings as far as the IRS is concerned?
