DRS question from smooth brain.

It looks like I can register my GME shares DRS on TD where I currently am. I want to make sure I receive the dividend (if approved). Is it safe to have them DRS in TD or do I need to do it through computershare? Want make sure the shares get counted. Any help would be appreciated as I feel a little confused about this. Just want to make sure they are registered properly. I've seen posts stating that Computershare is keeping the official count, just don't want to miss out. Thank you
