The longer they manipulate the price of GME and keep it down, the more time and opportunity it gives us all to buy hold and DRS. These hedge funds are playing such a dangerous game.

As they see the weaker funds implode, they must be feeling their shirt collars tightening with the stress!

GME is a problem that's not going away any time soon. The old tricks aren't working for the hedge funds. Their mainstream financial press narratives are being ignored. Whether they pump or dump it, whether they produce Positive news or fear porn, the reaction of us apes never changes. We just buy hold and DRS.

Like monkeys minding machines.
