TLDR aussie ape begins selling off etoro shares and buying back+doubling down through commsec hello my fellow GME apes!!!

what a wonderful species we are and i'm so glad i've been in this community for almost a year. i remember staying up late at night with a mate watching my shares shoot up astronomically in days, followed by laughing about our shitty ev shares.

besides the point, i initially began buying shares through commonwealth bank and their commsec platform as an aussie ape but due to being arrogant and worried about time i shifted towards etoro. as time has gone on, i've increasingly worried about the etoro as the game plans of the big chess pieces have been shown and their inevitable big fuck you to everyone during the MOASS.

i was always hesitant in going about shifting over due to the only way out is selling however with the recent drop of price (through manipulation) and the perk of DRSing through commsec i've decided now is the time.

today is the day i've transferred 1/3 of holdings (about 3000 aussie dollarydoos) to purchase about 18 shares, an increase in my original number.

BUY HODL DRS.

i'm sick of work x
