To all my beloved GME APES out there. Here is an excerpt of the eToro Terms and Conditions:

12. We may lend your securities

You acknowledge, accept, and expressly consent to us lending any securities held on your behalf to any third party. If we receive income or benefits (including stock lending fees and interest on posted collateral), we are not obliged to pass on such income or benefits to you. Where we lend out your securities, this may limit your ability to exercise voting rights (if any) relating to that security. Such lending to the extent conducted, will be offered in accordance with any Applicable Laws.
