NASA Planning Mission To Asteroid Containing Metals Worth $10,000 Quintillion

NEWS

NASA is planning a mission up to an asteroid that is hurtling around in our solar system, and it could be a seriously lucrative mission if it is a success.

In fact, the number in terms of the potential value of the precious metals that the asteroid may be composed of is simply baffling, because it's supposedly worth more than $10,000 quintillion.

That's not even worth doing the UK conversion for, as it's such an unfamiliar and massive number
