Title pretty much says it all and it is speculative that GME and LRC are working on a "partnership". We are still soooo early in blockchain technology that layer 2 has only been recently developed. Those that know the basics know how beneficial this layer is. If there were an LRC dividend there may be a squeeze on different fronts and for a long time too, maybe even months or years! Gamestop knows what they are doing, they have such an amazing idea that they can't even disclose details. They will run the "metaverse" not Facebook. When they do, it would be LRC used as gas. Please find holes in this if you have any input or opinion.
