This has got my interests perked up, I don't know a TON about crypto, so this is an unfamiliar area to me. I have also never seen these types of domains mentioned anywhere, so I think we should start talking about it.

Here is the updated from the GamestopNFT twitter account; and here is a good read on what these are;

This seems pretty big no? I feel this will let another major companies integrate their websites, or dApp stuff with GME's wallet & marketplace. I don't really have my head wrapped around it, but its time to start talking about it. I am sure there are some other smart people here that might have used these etc...
