Yesterday I had four more GME shares being put through CS. Each time in the past, I submit the purchase. 4 trading days later it updates with the strike price (which it did), and sends me a confirmation text by the end of the day trading that it was complete.

However, this time around it is fishy. The settlement price was added at an unusual time and there was no confirmation yesterday showing CS settlement and shares applied. We are now at 1 hr left of the second day of trading. My strike price is still above what the current trade price is and no settlement with CS.

Anyone else?

Cheers!
