Just getting this weird feeling that the “powers that be” are heavily posting on this sub currently trying to create a false internal narrative to the public.

We already see many media outlets are blaming the recent (aich-Kay-Deeee) run up on “memestockers” and the Reddit crew. Now it sure feels like there are a ton of apes all of a sudden posting a lot about some sense of “unified front/ collective/ group effort” to “get this done” or end this or end the system yada yada yada. I don't believe those posts are being made by “True apes” but imposters planting fake “evidence” on this sub that it was all a planned coordinated effort to take down the system. Just my opinion but it sure seems like a lot of things are being done in an attempt to place blame in the not so distant future.

Just keep your heads on a swivel and think logically about posts and if it sounds like it's pushing a “we” narrative.

Obligatory “GameStop” so I can post.
