Didn't know if this needed sharing or not but figured fuck it.

I took a break to check Ortex to see if anything had changed (as I typically do throughout the day because I have an addiction to GME) and I saw this. CTB Minimum is down to -1.16% and if I understand correctly, this means whomever is lending shares is PAYING someone to borrow them. Wut???? May need someone more wrinkly than I to explain.

I refreshed the page right before I was about to post and..... CTB Minimum is positive again???

The screenshots are only 10 min apart. Could it be a glitch? Maybe, but I haven't seen Ortex do anything like that before.

u/superheroninja do your thing if you deem it necessary.
