Welcome to 100+ days of ~~summer~~ broker guides!

It's clear that everyone, even GameStop fanatics, are finding and learning about Direct Registration and the DRS at different speeds. So I'm hoping this series of posts helps to raise more awareness that it is possible, and it's even easier than it was at the start of 2022!

If you're looking for a guide for your broker, check out the website and you'll find 110 guides (hopefully you're broker is one of them!). If you can't find your broker guide, let me know and I'll see what I can dig up!

Day 20, Guide 20: Commerzbank

Available here

Commerzbank is a German broker that cannot DRS transfer. So you would need to transfer to a broker that can (Commerzbank charge a hefty €150 fee to transfer to another broker).

If you have bought GS2C shares through Commerzbank and want to DRS them, you can convert them to GME and transfer to IBKR at the same time as detailed here. It's reported to have been free so far, but Commerzbank may still charge you the €150 fee.

If you have GME shares already, German brokers such as Baader Bank and Lynx can DRS transfer for a $5 fee. Or DKB can DRS transfer for free, but requires an existing CoComputershare account.

Another option is an international broker such as Revolut or IBKR. Revolut is free to DRS transfer, and IBKR charge a small fee of $5. Both have been reliable at DRS transferring.

Guides for all of these brokers are available on the site.
