

Title: Mob Mentality

Author: yangxiu

Created 2021-09-17 17:57:18 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/pq57di/mob_mentality/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/pq57di/mob_mentality/

Im prob going to get down voted to oblivion... But here it goes

A little afraid to post this in r/superstonk because it seems to be a state of mob thinking with u guessed it Computershare. I mean it's not much better here and i have always look into this sub for some mental clarity, but this time all i find are the same post i find everywhere else.

Dont get me wrong, i understand the importance of direct registered shares, but at the same time i can feel how "desperate" the community wants MOASS to happen... But have they forgot that GME without MOASS is still a superb investment? Why have we stopped questioning all the heated posts about computershare out there? If they want a Infinity pool wouldnt physical certificate be a better way to go about it? Since physical certificate gives the shares even less liquidity.

I am a retard, but i tried to look into DRS on the DTC website, even thou i dont understand everything i read, there are some lingering feeling in my stomach that what i read is not what it seems.

Im not trying to convince people not to register their share with computershare... What im trying to say is... Im going to do my research until i understand DRS myself, im not going to blindly follow some people's post just because it seems "logical" that registering with computershare might trigger MOASS. Im perfectly fine with buy & hold, im perfectly fine waiting a bit longer. Does anyone feel the same? Or am i alone here?