Corporate actions told me it was a forward

Split and that direction on how to distribute the shares came from DTC. He would not provide any supporting documentation regarding this correspondence. Dtc won't talk to me so GME investor relations is the last stop to get clarity, beyond the legal documents (form 8937) and the announcement via GME's investor relations page. He agreed with me that something is wrong and there is a difference between the two actions. I won't rest until I get answers, 8 hours on the phone and counting... buy,hold,drs,nfa
