Where to start

If, after careful consideration, you're still interested in dipping your toe in NFT waters, you'll first need to do three things:

1. Pick a marketplace: To buy or sell NFTs, you'll need to choose a reputable marketplace. Both Nifty Gateway and OpenSea are popular, although specialty marketplaces also exist, including ArtOfficial if you're a fine-art collector and NBA Top Shot for basketball enthusiasts.
2. Get a wallet: Shopping through most NFT marketplaces requires a Web3 wallet, such as MetaMask, that can store both cryptocurrencies and NFTs. Some marketplaces, like Nifty Gateway, will store your NFT, but you'll have to pay a fee to transfer it to another wallet should you wish to do so later.
3. Buy cryptocurrency: Some marketplaces accept payment in so-called fiat currencies, such as the U.S. dollar. However, many marketplaces are built on the Ethereum blockchain and prefer to transact in its native cryptocurrency, ether.
