This is my 2nd Reddit account. My first one was permanently suspended for fighting. It was a 9 year old account, so that's why I'm here speaking from a 3 month old account, so before you pile on for THAT, you may as well know the facts.

I've been invested in GME since the sneeze, but only had 2 shares then on Jan 28. The other 248 (before the splividend) we're acquired from Feb 2021 until my last purchase in May 2023.

I haven't sold any, nor do I plan to, as exhausted and tired of the whole saga I may be.

I've read the DD and have the backup library saved, but it's all become so convoluted now that I think my holding is as much a product of my muscles have locked in this hold position for so long I don't even know what selling would accomplish. My GameStop cost avg is $140 so I'm right there at the break even point but I didn't come this far just to come this far.

But what GME DD has actually been proven true?

Specifically, which ones?

Everyone could see the economic disaster miles away. That wasn't GameStop. A bad economy doesn't prove the DD true.

Is there any one that when someone says "The DD has been proven true" can actually back that up with provable facts and not just conjecture?
