MSM is doing what it does best... Developing a narrative to gather the mass uninformed to point the finger when fallout from a launching to one of Uranus' 27 moons ensues.

Previous GME FUD campaigns have proven unsuccessful, and this round looks hyperfocused on trying to define RC as another money hungry billionaire looking out for himself. It's classic character assassination used to setup a narrative that can be rinsed, washed, and repeated to "guide" the uninformed when something happens that they can't tune out through minimization and mockery.

Point blank, FUD is FUD... DRS, HODL, BUY. At some point the strings on the puppets fray and break.
