I put on a really fat aluminum hat.

I'm trying to figure out what cards the financial elite are planning to play out to get us to sell, which is the only way to save their ass.

In this context, the quote from IBKR's Thomas Peterffy comes to mind when he referred to the need to bring GME to 0 on CNBC 2 weeks ago.

I believe the GameStop story is a very big accident of stingy HFs and Elites that shatters an overarching plan (Great Reset?). Everything must now be done to get this plan back on track.

What options remain? GME must go bankrupt.

What is our Stonk's business model? Brick'n'mortar, e-commerce and the future NFT marketplace.

What needs to be done:

Destroys any trust and budding interest in NFT / Blockchain technology. Aim: crashing stablecoins, bitcoin, hacking coins and their users and pushing it through the media.

Destroy the suppliers and supply chains so that there are no products or only products for the bare minimum. Drains the purchasing power of the mob. Disrupting supply chains to the max. Let people have other problems instead of thinking about where to get the next game, blah blah things to buy at GME, .. etc. from.

Now I come to the last part of my headline:

Be prepared: all this has only one purpose - you should sell. But fuck you Kenboy. infinity and beyond.

Strong stuff: but I fear the whole financial world is at the mercy of the overshorted Stonks.

No cell, no sale.
