Okay! I called Fdltty a month back to DRS my GME shares. The first day- the agent said there was something wrong with the "system" and asked me call the next day.

The next day, I called and put in a transfer request through an agent.

Today after a month later, I called to see why a process that should take 5 days took more than a month, the agent says 'We don't see any record of you calling us or any record of your transfer request' WTF?

Are they making this process as difficult as they possibly can so that they don't need to buy shares because they never did when they 'filled' my buy order?
