1) If you're having a rough time lately, just wanted to say keep hanging in there, I know it sucks but just remember. As of October 31, 2021 5.2 million shares were DRS'd, and the avg DRSBOT shares per person are 155. $5.2 \text{ mill} / 155 = 33,548$, that means at that time 33,547 PEOPLE were experiencing the same thing as you, and that number has only been increasing, and they sure as shit aren't selling GME shares.

2) To the USA apes (the majority based on share geo location), I know it is a pain, but your written opinion to any and all agencies is going to be huge when the time comes, Keep records of any and all complaints you are making about this corrupt situation. Any government knows that the citizens have to hope that the system is fair, and if you play by the rules you can better your situation. The USA government let you down in a big way when case against RH was dismissed with prejudice. I hope they do not change the rules again (like illegally shutting off the buy button), because if there's no hope, then there's no point regardless of the whose in power. You played by the rules for GME, you have been more than patient, you are owed.
