Everyone is putting their theory out there, so I thought why not? Keep in mind; I'm retarded. A lot of you say you're retarded, but if that's true then I'm more like your retarded pet hamster. Reading some of the things you guys say is like hearing a scientist explain space n shit. I don't know wtf you're saying, but it's beautiful. That said, at least a few of you that care to even bother with me are probably about to 'pet me too hard'. I'm not even sure if I'm doing this post correctly.

Here goes.

We all know about the letter Ryan Cohen sent to bed b and b, and the mention of them selling 'baby' fully or partially. In light of him selling, I come to two different conclusions based on the idea that he wanted to be the buyer.

1- they reached an agreement, and therefore Ryan had to sell because of it being insider information.

2- they didn't reach an agreement, and so consequently Ryan sold because he doesn't see their growth from there.

In either scenario, I fully understand why he sold. I just don't see why a billionaire would stunt his momentum for a quick pump and dump and some millions. It just doesn't seem likely to me. If he really wanted to fuck us, he probably could have in a very big way, making way more money in the process. I've held this long, I can hold some more.

Anyways that's my take. Go easy on me, I have sensitive knees.
