Can hedge funds sell their GME FTD's amongst themselves and keep rolling them over??

I'm trying to grasp the concept of these FTD's and how they keep rolling them over.

T+2 + T+35... can they just keep failing to deliver and pay a (small) penalty that prevents them from delivering in hopes we sell our positions?

Fuck, im dumb... but together we are less dumb. Let's figure this out.

Or find an adult who can.
