You know, I heard someone else is building "a nationwide high-speed network" on the moon that is basically zero energy cost!

The GME Marketplace? Does it span 22,000 miles?

Well... no. Much greater.

The moon at its closest point to APEs is 222,000 miles away. This is called its perigee. <https://www.space.com/18145-how-far-is-the-moon.html>

Let's see...

There's a New Moon on June 28th.

How cool would that be if this was also its perigee?

It's not. It's the opposite.

In Stockton, California June 28th the moon will be at apogee, its farthest. <https://www.timeanddate.com/astronomy/moon/distance.html?n=899>

But... At perigee the Moon is between 28 and 29 Earths away from APEs.

But wait! There's moar!

I forgot to carry the one.

Alas! The stars have aligned!

No, like literally... they have aligned look it up.

<https://www.timeanddate.com/news/astronomy/planet-alignment-2022>

The wanderers known as the classical planets Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn and our next destination, the Moon will align every morning from June 23rd to the 25th.

Fun fact: For the next 600 million years the moon will be about 400 times closer to APEs than the sun and that the diameter of the sun is also about 400 times greater than the moon.

Mathematical perfection, just like squeezes.

Now I'm no rocket scientist and dates are dumb, but my Magic8Ball just told me we're hitting 600million by the 29th. Buckle Up!

GameStop is Moonward Bound!

(This is all for fun. Have a good weekend APEs. Gaze at the stars!)
