When the time comes to sell one of my gme shares.....

I have moved during the after the arrival of the first letter and before the second letter. This has made getting my second letter a nightmare called computershare and updated my address over the phone through the poor connection and my oceania accent it was a rough conversation so I couldn't get all my questions answered.

The lovely person I spoke to said with me changing my address it restricts selling for 10 days does this mean even tho I don't have my second letter I can call them to sell one share if I need to before the 4ish weeks the second letter will take to arrive..

If so does computershare just hold the money until I can link a foreign exchange account ?
