Bought on 2/4/21 after DFV's and Kenny's testimony before Congress. DFV gave some of the clearest, least bullshit testimony I've ever seen. And I love C-Span with all my heart.

Then there was Kenny: I had never seen anyone so scared before Congress in my life. Forget the lies, he was terrified. Frightened. Defenseless.

I shorted his false confidence and here I am.

I cannot remember my favorite car so my new password is snailmailing it to me so I won't be able to look at my DRS (late September/super low account #/will proof or ban a pumpkin up my ass) nor will I see my prolapsed purple glory hole with my 4x shares tomorrow, and I couldn't give a fuck: I know where they are.

I had a profile that had me in both subs actively early on but life came down hard and I deleted my shit. Left a job to start my own business and my mom died and it all went to hell. Anyone out there knows it's a constant missing piece.

I had other things to do but it's nice to be home again, at the dawn of the beginning. The beginning. It's all prologue now, these 18 months. These months spent reading, learning, doing it alone but never alone.

Ape never alone. You clowns mean a lot to me. More than I know. But I do know that gutting some terrible people for everything they have and then systematically giving it away to people who deserve it is gonna be the best way to spend the rest of my life.

One day, I'll meet some of you. I will hug you, cry with you, laugh with you, and we'll come up with some cockamamie plan to help people and do it.

Everything about myself I've seen in you and I'm truly humbled. I get to make history with people just as smart and just as fucking dumb as I am.

We're all tired of watching history happen before us. Now it will be made with us. I believe in you, in me, because we had nothing to lose and everything to gain.

And here we are, together alone at the beginning.

Gamestop. What the fuck...
