So everyone thinks the nft marketplace will be the catalyst right, but how so? Opensea is valued at $13b so everyone's using them right now. When gamestop announces the platform and it's rolled out(guessing that'd be at the same time) sure a lot will come over to see what's up but it'd take some time for it to become popular and valuable. I guess what I'm asking is how do you guys think it's gonna play out? Maybe I'm thinking of catalysts the wrong way, that it's supposed to create a quick stock reaction but can a catalyst take time to have effect on a stock? I don't see how they'll be a flood of investors right away when it's announced.
