Sorry if this has already been posted already.

This guy. Clearly here to push his analytics/company.

Kinda curious what it is that's driving all these great returns on GME? Pairing longs with shorts to drive returns? Too smooth but I want to know if there's any truth there?

Funny "because retail has basically bailed out of the long side of the market", GULP.

But then he keeps bring up "sentiment". I can't help but think he's referring to to apes/"liking the stock". How he's claiming that this is driving returns for hedge funds is what I'm left like ????
