Charlie Munger said “Never underestimate the man who overestimates himself” when he was asked about Elon Musk. This is the *opposite* of what RC has said.

Who is Charlie Munger? He is a vice chair on the board at Berkshire Hathaway, a company whose stock rose nearly 30% last year alone and mind you, looks like this over its lifetime:

And everyone knows about Elon Musk. The dude is awesome. No need to elaborate on his mountain of achievements.

How does this relate to GME? I don't know. My brain is smoother than the black ice currently on my street. Is RC talking about himself here? Does he really have the end game solidified and he's trolling boomer MSM? This is his hint to us we can relax and trust it's coming?
