I don't know if you caught this and surely don't know about the stock market because it changes everyday for the good of the masters, but Matt states in the filing that they are "transform into a technology company". If I get a bit naughty my tits are actually that jacked that my brain can pop one more wrinkle on it on the smooth side and it tells me that as a technology company gamestop shares without a sneeze would be ■■■$1000. Tick-tock motherfucker, the time bomb is ticking. Either we DRS or they complete the transition to a tech company and blow this thing up with elevated share price.

And with the recent short pressure and new "base level" at 80-90 I suggest they are expecting it to happen now rather than later.
