If you look at me recent posts I've been pushing my broker and UK regulator for more information on the GME stock split/dividend issue.

Still waiting for a formal response from compliance at IG, but their Helpdesk says that they were instructed to deal with it as a stock split, but that they also got the additional shares.

They say they sold one share, and got 4 more. So some were passed on from the DTC to brokers - or at least, their custodian of record told them they had them.....
