Hi all GME apes.

Since a few days, there is a sentiment (not in every body, okay, just in the "non hyped apes") in the way that all of us think that nothing going to change after the "splidividend".

But why is this happening? Because of all the things that we lived and doesn't change nothing? Maybe for all the FUD that they spread for almost three years?

I don't know why, but the only thing that we know is that exist a lot of DD as here as r/Superstonk to be really glad with the point of the splidividend.

Why aren't we flooding the sub (or both subs) with others examples like Tesla or Apple splidividends, plus de extra of exponential of "Naked shorts, yeah"? Cause maybe nothing going to happen again after that? Well, is a possibility, but let me make a list of questions that we have to do by and for ourselves before to fall into the FUD effect:

1. After the new of the splidividend do we go up? Green crayon = yes
2. There is new fud after that really easy to deny? <https://finance.yahoo.com/video/gamestop-dips-premarket-stock-split-132526540.html>

(Really loyal and friendly headline.)

3. Are the MSM explaining the differences or specifying the differences between "Normal stock split" and "Stock split dividend"?

4. What happened to other companies that do the same?

<https://www.cnbc.com/2022/03/28/tesla-wants-to-split-its-stock-so-it-can-pay-a-stock-dividend-shares-gain.html>

5. Anything of this is relevant for the future? It shouldn't because "a movement in the past don't have to be the same in the future" okay, so,

6. What is the important point right now?

We are waiting for more than two entire years for this, the splidividend and the outstanding shares recall to stop the fuckery of synthetic shares.

7. What's going to happens now?

It's so hard to know, because the fuckers like the fuckery, for this reason is so important to be zen more than ever.

8. What can I do right now?

Well, not a financial advice, is your money so your decision too.

BUY, DRS, HODL and STAY ZEN is the crowd humbles opinion.

The only thing I can tell you is that I'm here with the rest of all the apes around the world.

We prepare the matches, the rockets and we are at the best place to see the fireworks.

Now, we only need just a simple thing more again: time.

Maybe one week or even more, we will, but you can bet your ape ass that all of this is good for us.

I hope that our effort it will be rewarded and we do justice at the same time.

Good luck, apes.

PS: sorry for the gramma, not my native language. If you think that I should to change or add something, just say it.
