I just wanted to share this.

An ape who wishes to remain anonymous awarded one of my regular posts last week (https://www.reddit.com/r/Superstonk/comments/st4ze0/im_going_to_keep_saying_this_updated/?utm_source=share&utm_medium=ios_app&utm_name=iossmf). After I PM'd him thanking him for the award, he responded in chat with this:

"gotta get the fing float locked ■■■■

if i may give you some feedback:

maybe in next updated post dont include the 'sell your other stocks and get more gme' part, as it feels a bit invasive and financial advice-ish, and most apes probably only will do this if they have decided for themselves"

My response:

"Thank you for the feedback, and the kind way you worded it. I will honestly consider it again.

First of all, my motivation is purely to help. Just so you understand my line of thinking: I don't mind if my post sounds or even is financial advice.

Regarding 'if they have decided for themselves', ...everybody makes decisions based on reasoning with the information they possess, or on emotion. Obviously you shouldn't make a decision based on emotion, which leaves information. I'm trying to present information, or at the very least a different perspective of using existing information, that some people might not have considered. For those that have already considered all information from all angles, I think they can just painlessly crumple up my words and throw them out. For those that haven't, I think I'm doing them a service and therefore apes collectively, a service. If you truly believe all the DD, it's inconsistent to hold other stocks. There is zero doubt in my mind that no other investment will outperform GME even without a rocket launch and I think it's an incredibly high percentage of apes think the same way.

I believe that if enough people do the 3 numbered things in my post that we will lock the float 6 months to a year earlier and possibly keep hedgies or other powers from inventing new ways of screwing us over. Why take that chance when it's already the best investment?

Again, just opening up my mind to you. Like I said, I will think more on this for the same reasons I just stated to you. If I don't change it, I include what I just typed to you as an explanation or disclaimer of sorts."

His reply, "very reasonable explanation, thank you, now you have convinced me haha. Its actually pretty illogical to not be all in in gme if u are on superstonk regularly.
Cya on the moon fellow ape"

My response, "HAHA!!■■■. That was my goal. I often take naysayers (not you) in the comment sections of my posts, as a personal challenge to convert.

I am a dedicated Christian and I often speak and debate Biblical creation versus Darwinian evolution from both a scientific and Biblical perspective. So I'm very used to using genuine, kind methods of persuasion even in the face of hatred."
