Purim this year for my fellow Jews begins tonight and ends tomorrow night. In short it is the celebration of how the Jews were saved from a mortal threat, and when I say celebration I mean we tend to go hard.

It also is on St. Patrick's day; a day celebrating the life of St. Patrick. The man who is noted largely for casting the snakes from Ireland.

What does this have to do with GME Earnings?

Well this is me thinking out loud about how GME Earnings have been pushed forward to be on the day of Purim and St. Patrick's day.

My point is that there seem to be too many "coincidences" lining up for this earnings, and the symbology of the coincidences identified above are strikingly similar to what we as individuals want.

Who knows? Maybe this Purim, this earnings, this St. Patrick's Day will be a day marked by casting the shorts from our midst and saving ourselves from a mortal threat.

Chag Purim sameach!

Happy St.Patricks Day!

Happy Earnings Day!

EDIT 1:

Also remember this is me thinking out loud, and correlation does not necessarily mean causation!
